FARMERS' UNION FEARED BY POLITICAL LEADERS

Original Non-Partisan Organization Is Becom- ing Powerful And Threatens To Seek Legislative Representation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 22.—The national leaders of both political parties have lately had their attention directed to the possibility of the Farmers' Union going into active politics. While it would perhaps be putting it a little too strongly to say that they are alarmed over the possibility it is nevertheless true that the rapid growth of the organization is already causing some uneasiness.

The Farmers' Union was not organized for political purposes and the leaders of the movement insist that politics will be barred. But this statement is not reassuring to the politicians, who remember how the leaders of the Farmers' Alliance years ago declared there would be no politicians in the organization and how a few years later the alliance played havoc with the older political parties. There is a striking similarity between the new organization and the old. In their place of origin, purposes and growth the two have been almost identical.

The first farmers' alliance had its birth in Lampasas county, Texas, in 1876. The objects of this pioneer association were purely local, and confined to defense against the depredations of cattle and land thieves. The movement was taken up, however, by other counties, and in 1886 a Farmers' State Alliance was formed. Its declaration of principles included "the education of the agricultural classes in the science of economical government in a strictly non-partisan spirit," and the development of a "better state mentally, morally, socially and financially."

In the meanwhile, organizations of farmers were growing up in the adjacent states. In Arkansas was the Wheel, so-called, which first saw light in a schoolhouse in western Arkansas, in 1882. In Louisiana was the Farmers' Union. Delegates from the latter met with delegates from the Texas Farmers' State Alliance at Waco in 1887, and out of the two bodies was formed the National Farmers' Alliance and Co-Operative Union of America. At Meridian, Miss., December 5, 1887, was held a convention between this organization and the National Agricultural Wheel, and from it was evolved the Farmers and Laborers' Union of America. At the next annual meeting, held in St. Louis in 1889, the name of that organization, which had now spread over the south and a large part of the west and northwest, was changed to that of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, a name by which it continued to be known until its dissolution some years later, to be revived in the Populist party.

As before stated, the origin and history of the Farmers' Alliance and the Farmers' Union, present many points of striking similarity.

Like the older organizations, the Farmers' Union had its origin in Texas. It was in Raines county, that state, that ten men on August 28, 1902, and formed an organization to be called the Farmers' Union. The object and aims of the organization were set forth in the following constitution:

To discourage as much as possible the present mortgage and credit system.

2. To assist our members in buying and selling.

3. To labor for the education of the agricultural classes in the science of crop diversification and scientific culture.

4. To constantly strive to secure entire harmony and good will among all mankind and brotherly love among ourselves.

5. To form a more adequate union with those in authority for a more rigid and impartial enforcement of the law, that crime, vice and immorality may be suppressed.

6. It would, garner the tears of the distressed, the blood of the martyrs, the laughter of innocent children, the sweat of honest labor and the virtue of a happy home as the brightest jewels known.

7. This is no political party, and shall forever abstain from even so much as a discussion of partyism. Yet we do not feel it is right to place shackles upon the limbs, or a padlock upon the lips of any one who may wish to discuss for educational purposes the science of government, for upon this rock all important structures must rest for either mental, moral or financial development.

That the members of the union have seen fit to construe the last clause of the constitution to their own liking is evidenced by the fact that in Mississippi and in other states the local branches are planning for representation in the legislative assemblies. "An idea of what the results might be if the organization as a whole decided to go into active politics, may be had from the statement that in five years it has gained a membership of a million men and it is still growing at a rapid rate. At the present time state and local unions, organized on a firm basis, exist in all the southern states and in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon, California and Illinois.

ORDER OF ACQUITTAL REFUSED BY COURT

HAYWOOD DEFENSE REQUIRED TO PRESENT EVIDENCE.

OPENS ITS CASE MONDAY.

Prosecution Rests After Having Offered Final Testimony as to Remittances to Orchard and Adams.

Boise, Idaho, June 22.—When the state Friday closed its case against William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of Frank Steunenberg, the defense made an unsuccessful attempt to secure from the court an order directing the jury to acquit the prisoner. Judge Wood's ruling, which requires the defense to meet with evidence the case that the state has presented, was made at 5:15 o'clock, and it was then arranged that Haywood's counsel should make their opening statement and present their first testimony on Monday next.

State Winds Up Its Case.
When court opened Friday morning it was stipulated that the record should show that the date of the draft sent by Haywood to Jack Simpkins late in 1905 was December 21, and after that the prosecution proceeded to show by a handwriting expert that George Pettibone, using the names of "J. Wolf" and "P. Bone," made two remittances of money to Harry Orchard at San Francisco through the Pacific Postal Telegraph company in the fall of 1904. The state next called Jim Seaborn, a colored horse trader, who swore that he sold a horse and buggy to Orchard in Denver in 1905, and identified Haywood as one of the men who rode with Orchard. After that the defense admitted that in June, 1903, Haywood sent $75 to Steve Adams at Ogden and when the necessary showing had been made on the record the prosecution formally rested.

The motion for an instruction to the jury to acquit was by agreement presented at the afternoon session and the jury went back to the jury house out of hearing of the argument.

Argument for Acquittal.
Attorney E. P. Richardson made the principal argument in support of the motion in a long, carefully prepared and eloquent address. He took for his guide the Idaho statute which forbids conviction upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice, and quoted many authorities in support of his contention that there must be convincing corroboration entirely independent of the testimony of the accomplice, and made an analysis of all the testimony offered. He declared that none of the testimony could stand without support of Orchard's story, and that the statute specifically forbade its acceptance under those circumstances.

He also argued that the testimony of Orchard was the only showing that in any way connected Haywood with the crime and that the statute forbade conviction under those circumstances.

Senator Borah Replies.
Senator Borah, who alone spoke for the state, argued with like force and eloquence that Haywood's connection had been independently shown and that Orchard's testimony, has been corroborated by independent circumstances and evidence. He also submitted a general argument to show that the state had established the existence of a general conspiracy in which Haywood was a participant, and in which he strongly developed the alleged connection of Pettibone and Simpkins.

Clarence Darrow, who closed, pleaded that there was not a shred of evidence in the case capable of standing without the "rotten thread of Orchard's story" to sustain it and that the plain provision of the Idaho statute made the duty of the court clear. He ridiculed the idea of a general conspiracy and contended that if the most liberal allowance were made for the entire showing of the state it would not make out a case against the prisoner worthy of submission to the jury.

CHAMBER UPHOLDS FRENCH CABINET

DEPUTIES VOTE CONFIDENCE IN THE GOVERNMENT.

STATEMENT BY PREMIER

Opposition Makes Fierce But Futile
Attack—Presence of Troops Restores Comparative Quiet in South.

Paris, June 22.—By a majority of 104 the chamber of deputies Friday afternoon voted confidence in the government and gave the ministers a free hand to employ the measures they think best to establish the sovereignty of the law in the disturbed departments of the south.

This result came after a day of excitement over the muthous movement of troops in the south, following the widespread disorders of the wine-growers.

The grave view the French capital takes of the revolutionary events in the south of France and the tragic outcome was evidenced by the scene in the chamber of deputies when the government was interpellated on the measures it proposed to take to re-establish order. Even standing room was not obtainable and many women listened to the debate, which at times was superheated.

Premier Gives News to Deputies.

Premier Clemenceau lost no time in imparting to the deputies the news from Narbonne adding to the information already published the fact that over a hundred soldiers were wounded in the fighting Thursday with the rioters. The latter, he said, had disappeared from the streets. The peasants from the surrounding villages, terrified at the shooting, took the first trains for their homes.

Then, amid impressive silence, the premier gave the official version of the mutiny of the battalion of the Seventeenth Infantry at Agde and its march to Beziers, fully confirming the dispatches on the subject. The premier added that he could not listen to any proposition for the conditional surrender of the mutineers, as it would be a most fatal move for the government to capitulate to the soldiers. He concluded with demanding a vote of confidence in the government, so that the ministers could carry out, in the name of the chamber, the work of repression on which in the future much depended.

Fierce Attack by Opposition.

The opposition deputies fiercely attacked the government, accusing the ministers of sending agents to stir up the populace in the south, asserting that the cuirassiers acted like Cossacks; that the troops fired without little provocation and without notification, and that women and children had been slaughtered, and insisted that the release of M. Ferroul, former mayor of Narbonne, would alone restore calm. Otherwise, one of the speakers asserted, "the bloody rioting of to-day will be the revolution of to-morrow."

Former Minister of Commerce Millerand's denunciation of M. Clemenceau was particularly violent, but fell flat, as he is strongly suspected of a desire to succeed to the premiership.

Government Is Supported.

Some of the more prominent members of the opposition appeared to place the interests of the country above those of their party and held up the hands of the government, being desirous of giving the latter time enough to bring the delinquents in the south to account.

After six hours' debate the chamber generally adopted this view and by 327 to 223 votes decided to support the cabinet.

The receipt of a dispatch from Beziers later in the day, announcing that the mutinous battalion had decided to return to the rest of the regiment, caused decided satisfaction in official circles, as it was hoped that the action taken would head off any further open insubordination among the troops.

Funeral of Riot Victims.

Narbonne, France, June 22.—The funeral of the victims of Thursday's riots was held Friday and passed off without untoward incident. It was a most impressive affair, attended by the entire population of the country side. All public organizations were represented by delegates. The bier of the girl who was slain was surrounded by maidens dressed in white. There were many floral offerings on the coffins, inscribed "To Martyrs."

Troops Suppress a Riot.

Montpellier, France, June 22.—What promised to be another ugly riot broke out here Friday evening, but the rigorous charges of the troops, which drove the mob from place to place, finally resulted in a semblance of order being restored. The crowd again used revolvers, but although a number of persons were slightly hurt, no fatalities have been reported.

Detroit Strikers Enjoined.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—As a climax to the numerous acts of violence and rioting, which have resulted from the strike which has been in progress for the past month of a thousand molders, machinists and metal polishers in 14 manufacturing of the city, a blanket injunction was issued Friday afternoon by Circuit Judges Hosmer, Mandell and Brooke restraining the metal polishers' union and 200 specified individuals from interfering in any way with workers at any of the plants affected by the strike.

Picnic Postponed: On account of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Palmer's infant son the annual picnic of the Parker Pen company employees, which was to have been held up the river this afternoon, has been postponed.

MADE MAD BY LIGHTNING

KALAMAZOO MAN, STRUCK WHILE IN A TREE, IS CRAZED.

Farmer and Woman Killed By Bolts
During Severe Electrical Storm in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—Special dispatches tell of a severe electrical storm that passed over the lower peninsula of Michigan late Friday. At Kalamazoo Frank Stirner was struck by lightning while trimming a spruce tree. One of his shoes was torn off and he was badly burned about the body. The shock left him clinging to the branches of the tree bereft of his reason. Neighbors, attracted by his chattering, were unable to reach him or to make him understand their directions to climb down to the ground, and a fire truck had to be called before the man could be brought down by means of ladders. He was taken to a hospital and it is believed he will recover.

George Hawley, a farmer, was struck by lightning and killed while plowing in a corn field near Kalamazoo, and Mrs. Stephen Curtis was struck by lightning and killed while talking to her husband in their kitchen at Onaway, Cheboygan county. Mr. Curtis was stunned but not seriously hurt.

Coffeetown, Kan., June 22.—A tornado at Seminole, six miles south of this city, Friday afternoon demolished the house of A. Q. Lett, a farmer, and fatally injured two of his young children.

WOLLER GIVEN THREE YEARS.

Milwaukee Embezzler Is Sentenced
by His Bosom Friend.

Milwaukee, June 22.—Frank E. Woller, for 18 years clerk of the municipal court of this city, was Friday evening brought into the court, of which he had been an official so long, pleading guilty before his bosom friend, Judge Brazee, of embezzlement of $30,000, and was sentenced to three years at hard labor in the Milwaukee house of correction.

The scene in court was sad in the extreme. Many attorneys pleaded with the court for lenient sentence. The prosecutor did not suggest a measure of punishment further than to insist that justice be meted out. Judge Brazee said that duty alone prevented him from calling in another judge to sit in the case. He was almost overcome as he pronounced the sentence.

WITHDRAWS FROM EDDY SUIT.

Second Cousin Baker Leaves Fight to Nearer Relatives.

Concord, N. H., June 22.—Fred W. Baker, of Epsom, N. H., a second cousin of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, Friday filed in the superior court here his withdrawal as one of the "next friends" plaintiffs in the suit for an accounting of Mrs. Eddy's property. He withdrew on the ground that others nearer of kin than he to Mrs. Eddy are acting as plaintiffs and that his presence among them is unnecessary.

Counsel for the "next friends" also filed several documents in the court, one being a request that Judge Chamberlain make requisition upon the trustees of Mrs. Eddy's estate for the necessary funds to carry on the suit brought by the "next friends."

Von Sternberg Not to Retire.

Hamburg, June 22.—Ambassador Speck von Sternberg will sail for New York on the North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, which leaves Hamburg July 2. The ambassador asserts in the most positive manner that the statements to the effect that he is about to retire have not the slightest foundation in fact.

Two Trainmen Are Killed.

St. Paul, Minn., June 22.—According to official information received at Northern Pacific headquarters in this city, two trainmen were killed and one seriously injured by the derailment of a work train Friday night near Detroit, Minn.

FRENCHMAN GOLF CHAMPION.

Arnaud Massey Captures British
Title—Ross Wins in America.

Horlake, Eng., June 22.—For the first time in its history the open golf championship has gone out of the British Isles, Arnaud Massey, the French champion, winning the title Friday with a score of 312 strokes for four rounds. The grand aggregate of Alec Smith, the American champion, was 333 strokes. He finished twenty-fourth.

Philadelphia, June 22.—Alex Ross, of the Brae Burn Golf club, won the open championship of the United States Friday in the thirteenth annual tournament of the United States Golf association on the Philadelphia Cricket club links. His score was 302. Gilbert Nichols, of the Woodland Golf club, was second with a score of 304 and Alec Campbell, of the Philadelphia Country club, was third with 305.

GEN. ALLEN TO MAKE CHANGE.

Quits Philippine Constabulary for Yellowstone Park Service.

Lexington, Ky., June 22.—Brig. Gen. Henry T. Allen, chief of the Philippines constabulary of the United States army, left here Friday afternoon for Washington, where he will tender his formal resignation as head of that department to take the position of head of the Yellowstone park service. Gen. Allen organized the Philippine constabulary and has been in charge for seven years.

Barbards' French Champion.
One must have lived through a dull winter's night on the shores of the Thames; one must have looked in the laughing eyes of some waitress for a reflection of the absent blue sky; in order to understand all the horror of the proposal to replace charming barbards by men—Maine, Paris.

Town Bred Warriors.

The recruiting sergeant of to-day does not find his best recruits at the country fair, but in the great towns, where the streeturchin, after a little training, develops a devil-may-care bravery that has stood the country in good stead upon many critical occasions.—Country Life, London.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The discovery of how paper was first made is thus described by an exchange:

"It was a clever little Japanese gentleman who first invented it. This little man was a merchant, and as he had over so many parcels to send out from his shop every week, he found the silk in which he always wrapped them a rather expensive item. He was always thinking and puzzling his brains to try to invent something that would be cheaper.

"One day while he was walking in his garden he came across a wasp's nest, and he noticed how wonderfully it was made—how the clever wasps had used some kind of wood, softened it into a thin paste with their jaws, and, after carefully shaping it, had left it to dry. 'If wasps can do a thing like that,' thought the little gentleman to himself, 'why can't I?' If I could get some kind of wood, form it into a pulp by means of river water, wouldn't the result be something like the fabric of the wasps' nest? I'll try, anyway, and see what I can do. It would save myself and other people quite a lot of money, if my experiment succeeded."

The little Japanese gentleman tried—and succeeded, too, in putting into practice the lesson that the wasps had taught him. So that's the way paper was invented—years and years ago out in far Japan."

From this small beginning has developed one of the greatest industries of the age. The largest plant in this country, for the manufacture of Manila paper, is located down in the Adirondack regions. The mill, representing a cost of one and a half million dollars, owns its own timber land, and the cut last year amounted to 41,000 cords, at an expense of $246,000 for cutting and transportation.

In the large paper mills, in the Fox river valley, where print paper is made extensively, the log is transformed to finished roll-paper in six hours from the time it enters the mill, and the capacity of these plants vary from 50 to 100 tons per day, of finished product. All of the work is done by machinery, from the log of wood to the roll of paper ready for use.

In this marvelous age of discovery and invention it is interesting to note that nature is equal to every demand.

An all-wise Creator hid away in the great natural storehouses a supply of material sufficient to meet the requirements of each succeeding generation, and when one reservoir is exhausted, another invites attention.

A few years ago a lumber famine was predicted, then the steel and iron came to the surface, and a little later the stucco and cement demanded a hearing. Today there is a greater variety of building material on the market than ever before, and all of good quality.

This material is as old as the world itself but much of it has lain dormant because not needed. Man found it ready to do his bidding and appropriated it without a thought of the far-seeing Provider.

Edison recently said that electricity, as a motive power, is in its infancy, and predicts that when its forces are fully understood and utilized that the current will be taken directly from the atmosphere, making the power-house and control plant a thing of the past. Edison is not a dreamer and many of his predictions have already been verified.

If any one had predicted 20 years ago that power could be transmitted for miles over a single wire and harnessed to an industry, he would have been the laughing stock of the community. These elements of power were not new but their discovery was a wonderful revelation.

The realm of nature is not the only realm where new discoveries are being made for the domain of the mind is being invaded, and it responds readily to the touch of genius.

Science is keeping pace with nature, and the discoveries of science are worked out by human brains and developed by well-trained minds.

The theory has been exploded that when a man is a failure at everything else he can turn his attention to farming and win success, for farming is a scientific industry today, and the man who ignores this fact is recognized as an indifferent tiller of the soil.

These changed conditions are due to the thorough and intelligent work of agricultural colleges, which have sprung up all over the land, and which are doing such effective work today.

A Janesville man was in Minneapolis, the other day, and visited the agricultural school of Minnesota, in charge of Professor Maine. The class work that day was the examination of stock and the scientific slaughtering and cutting up of cattle and sheep. A number of old farmers were in attendance, and were forced to admit, as they watched the boys at their work, that they were more than a generation behind the times. The best creameries in the country are in the hands of this class of boys, while every important industry in the land has connected with it a force of scientific workers, whose judgment and verdict is final, because based on scientific principles.

The story is told of a bridge which was built to span a river. Construction commenced at either side, and when the middle span was adjusted, it was found that it lacked two inches of connecting.

The builders were indignant and telegraphed the architect for an explanation. He wired back, "Wait until noon tomorrow," and when the iron expanded, under the heat of the mid-day sun, the rails came together and the structure was perfect.

Mr. Lancaster, the government engineer, who was recently here, tells of a boy who graduated from an engineering course. He sent for him and put him to work on road-building at a thousand-dollar salary, told him if he made good that he would raise him to $1500 and eventually turn the work over to him.

The boy wrote his father what he was doing, and the old gentleman, much disappointed, replied, "My boy, I have spent a lot of money on your education, and had hoped that you would amount to something."

Mr. Lancaster said, "Never mind, my boy, your father will discover that it requires brains to build roads, and that you have made no mistake in entering an unoccupied field where men are in great demand."

A year later the boy was called to his father's home county at a $2,000 salary, and placed in charge of construction work. When the old gentleman grasped the situation, he was more than satisfied that his boy had made no mistake in taking up road work.

Thus it is. New channels are opening up every year, and opportunities for the brain to work were never so numerous as today.

There is another realm, more sacred than either the physical or mental, where development is also progressing, yet more slowly. This is the kingdom of the heart, the mainspring of life and the domain of all that is best in humanity.

The belief is common that thought centers in the brain and is developed and worked out through the mind by intellectual processes, but the old book called the Bible, whose authority is seldom questioned, says, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

The intellect may be clear, the mind active, but unless the fountain is pure, the life is not at its best. In these busy days of strife and sharp competition, when everybody is struggling for supremacy, our better impulses are buried so far beneath the surface that they have but little opportunity to wield an influence. As a result the thinking heart is largely a minus quantity.

The revival meetings, now being held in the city, are not intended for intellectual improvement. They have to do with the domain of the heart, the choicest kingdom which man possesses. It is possible to ignore them, and stand outside the circle of influence, and thus far this is being done to large extent.

The wall of indifference has always been a barrier. While the new invention excites interest, and the new discovery commands attention, the telling of the "old story," in the same old way frequently fails in its mission, and so the churches drift along year after year with indifferent success.

The object of the revival is to concentrate energies, unite forces, and if possible overcome the prevailing spirit of indifference and neglect. The city recently conducted a successful lot sale, carried to successful issue by the enthusiastic work of a few people.

The revival aims to create this same sort of enthusiasm, directed to other channels, and the work is entitled to every encouragement.

When the heart is right the life is right, and the more hearts that are right the better the community. It is always wise to improve opportunities, which result in bettering conditions, and such an opportunity is now offered to Janesville people.

PRESS COMMENT

Mortician!
Madison Democrat: Mortician is a new characterization of the undertaker—or is it of the doctor?

Silly Season's on, Anyway
Exchange: Well if Col. Watter-son's dark horse is named Carter Harrison, let him brace up and say so.

No One Else Thinks So.
Chicago Tribune: Mr. Schmitz still insists that he is mayor of San Francisco, but his statement lacks official confirmation.

Enlarging upon the "Amen."
Exchange: An Iowa congregation has adopted a church yell. It should make an impressive response to the benediction.

Justified; Hence Intolerable
Oshkosh Northwestern: One of the bad features about the criticisms made against America by the Japanese is the fact that apparently the Japs are in the right, while a further bad feature is the fact they evidently know it.

Humor on Demand.
Chicago Inter Ocean: If Mark Twain and Bernard Shaw had been unconscious of the fact that the newspaper men were listening to hear them say something real witty, at least one of them might have said something that was worth the cable toll.

A Faure-Glimpse of Millenium
Madison Democrat: A committed churches, will shortly invite the saloon keepers of that city to a conference. Who will say now that the time is far distant when the lion and the lamb shall lie down together?

Rightly Belongs in Appleton
Fond du Lac Common Wealth: The fertile brain correspondent who invented the "cut it out" story, circulated in connection with the term of the dedication of the Georgia building at the Jamestown exposition, should move to Appleton or some other place where his services are in demand.

Any Type of "Sweat Box" Unlawful.
La Crosse Leader-Press: In consequence of the revelation of "sweat box" methods in Cleveland, Mayor Tom L. Johnson has ordered the police to discontinue its use. Another Ohio city, Toledo, has taken the same course, and throughout the state there is a growing sentiment against a police inquisition in the Twentieth century.

Won't Have Tillman.
Fond du Lac Bulletin: The Fox River Chautauqua has decided not to have Senator "Pitchfork" Tillman because the people of Appleton are opposed to the southerner. All men are not of the same belief but it is poor judgment to bar a speaker because his views are not in accord with yours. The management of the Chautauqua has very little backbone and the people of Appleton show at least bad taste in protesting against Senator Tillman's appearing.

Tarnish on Jerome's Reputation.
Evening Wisconsin: The dismissal of the indictment against Abe Hum-mell and Hummell's prospective release from Blackwell's Island, where he has been serving a term of imprisonment for subornation of perjury, will tend to confirm in their suspicions the people who believed that when Hummell was called from jail to try to break down the testimony of Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw a bargain had been driven as a compensation. The Thaw trial and its sequel have added nothing to the reputation of District Attorney Jerome.

The J. I. Case Co.
Madison Democrat: Few people realize that the J. I. Case Threshing Machine manufactory at Racine is one of the really great industrial institutions of the nation. Some time ago the company issued bonds to the amount of $3,500,000, the proceeds of which, it is stated, are to be used in extending the business and constructing a branch in Canada. The resources of the corporation are $12,149,519 and since 1880 it has paid $7,750,000 in dividends besides adding more than $4,000,000 to its surplus fund out of the profits of the business.

Nature Freak or Fake?
New York Tribune: A lake of quicksilver, covering an area of more than three acres and having a depth ranging from ten feet to fifty feet, has been discovered in the mountains of the state of Vera Cruz, Mexico. The value of the product is estimated at millions. This lake has been known to the Indians for many generations. It is situated far up in the mountains in an almost inaccessible position. Its surface is partly covered by stones. It is believed that volcanic action in the mountains above smelted the quicksilver out of the cinabar ore and that it ran down and filled this depression. A tunnel will be driven through the base of the mountain and the quicksilver will be brought down by means of gravity.

Mighty Glad of it.
Milwaukee Free Press: Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, it is said, has succeeded in landing a noble Englishman, and will shortly become an earless. The nobleman is the earl of Munster and Baron Tewkesbury. He is 45, a bachelor, and like the distinguished Japanese representative to this country some years ago, the lord Christianthum, he is without a cent. Mrs. Potter Palmer, however, has money to burn, and to buy her way to nobility with it, which is somewhat, although not altogether, the same thing. Mrs. Potter Palmer is something of a fortune teller. She is exceedingly glad to have Mrs. Potter Palmer marry into the Tewkesbury family, or any other family, mainly because by so doing she will terminate Mrs. Potter Palmer, of whom that portion of the public who read Chicago newspapers have become not a little wearied. It is estimated that the income from the estate of the late Potter Palmer is something like $350,000 annually, and this is a good bunch of money for a busted earl to get.

More Impractical Socialism.
Denver Republican: Unton Sinclair, in his latest book, "The Industrial Republic," seems to have abandoned the muckraker for the torchlight of the prophet. Mr. Sinclair says the Industrial Republic—which is merely a new name for an old and very familiar brand of Socialism—will come to pass exactly one year after the presidential election of 1912. He does not say there will be bloodshed, but thinks the elimination of the present system will come rather through some artistic dodging on the part of the public. Then, in painting a picture of the glorious times to come, when all the evils of the present system have been dodged—though as the author gives us a rehash of Edward Bellamy's dream in "Looking Backward." Unfortunately, however, Mr. Sinclair pictures his own colony, Helicon Hall, which was destroyed by fire not long ago as the ideal community of the "Industrial Republic." At the time of the destruction of Helicon Hall, the details of life in that colony were gone into pretty thoroughly by newspaper reporters and others, who may not have been sympathetic, but who, presumably, were truthful. It is probable that not one citizen in every hundred in the United States would live in a community like Helicon Hall, if he were offered free board and lodging.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Matthew H. Stevenson of Pittsburg is the candidate of the prohibitionists of Pennsylvania for state treasurer. The candidacy of Governor Cummings for United States senator will afford a test of the tariff revision sentiment in Iowa as well as an object lesson in the direct primary movement.

Though he has not yet authorized any one to make the formal statement of his candidacy, it is generally believed that when the gubernatorial campaign opens in Virginia Capt. Robert E. Lee will be one of the aspirants for the nomination.

It is again reported in Washington that Jesse R. Grant, son of the late General Grant, will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for President of the United States. It is said that he is not only willing to accept the nomination, but will come out openly and make a fight for it.

Cornelius C. Billings, the new assistant commissioner of patents, was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1886 and served as ensign in the Spanish-American war. He entered the United States patent office in 1889, and has been advanced steadily from a clerkship to the office of assistant commissioner.

Jacob McGavock Dickinson, whom members of the Iroquois club of Chicago are said to be preparing to boom for the presidential nomination in opposition to William J. Bryan, is a distinguished lawyer who for a long time has been general counsel for the Illinois Central railroad. He is a southerner by birth and education and has served on the supreme bench of Tennessee. In 1897 he was assistant attorney general of the United States and in 1903 he served as counsel for the United States before the tribunal that settled the Alaskan boundary question.

Sayings of Childhood.
Willie asked his mother one day what she would do to the one who broke a certain vase in the parlor, and was told: "I should punish him severely." The youngster remarked: "Well, you'd better begin to get your muscle up, for pop has broken it just now."—Chicago Tribune.

Classifying Him.
"Of course, he's an illiterate fellow, but he's excessively proud. He boasts that he was born and bred in old Kentucky."

"Good thing he wasn't born in Georgia; he couldn't have been bread there. He'd have been a cracker."

GOVERNMENT AGREES TO SHOW ROCK COUNTY HOW TO "BUILD" ROADS.

TO SEND CIVIL ENGINEER

District Attorney John L. Fisher Receives Instructions Regarding Application.

In reply to a letter from Consulting Engineer Samuel C. Lancaster, who recently inspected the roads and road materials of Rock county and appeared before the board of supervisors, the United States Department of Agriculture has written to District Attorney John L. Fisher, instructing him how to secure a government engineer to inspect the people of this county in road-building. The letter enclosed an application for expert advice and this will be signed by the proper county officials and forwarded to Washington, D. C., immediately. The request will be placed on file, considered in order of time and probably be complied with.

Object-Lesson Road

The instructions state: "In order to carry out efficiently the provisions of the law directing the Secretary of Agriculture to furnish expert advice in road-building, this office offers to local communities throughout the country the services of its corps of highway engineers and experts, who will advise as to the best methods of construction to be employed in a particular locality. Whenever a community is desirous of constructing an object-lesson road, when practicable, an expert will be detailed from this office to supervise and demonstrate the methods of construction. The nature of the construction employed is settled upon according to the conditions in the locality." If the engineer is sent to this county the mile of object-lesson road will probably be built in the town of Clinton.

May Furnish Machinery.

The government pays the expenses of the expert but the town or county bears the cost of material and labor. In some cases the government furnishes machinery and where expert operators are needed those also are on the "U. S. pay roll." To such an extent is the assistance offered by the department limited by both law and funds.

The illustration of a gas stove in the advertisement of the New Gas Light Co. in yesterday's Gazette showed a $27.00 gas stove by mistake. The price quoted was $22.00 and the stove pictured should have been the one at that price, whereas, by an inadvertence the picture showed a $27.00 stove. The Gazette desires to correct the error. The $22.00 stove is not supplied with the hood which is shown in the illustration printed, but otherwise the $22.00 stove is similar in most respects to the one which appeared in the ad.

PLANS FOR FOURTH ARE VERY ELABORATE

Committees in Charge Have Many New Features For the Day's Enjoyment.

Plans for the Fourth of July celebration continue to engross the attention of the citizens generally. Thus far the committees have done much to give promise of the day being one to be long remembered. The amusement committee returned from Chicago last evening with several good attractions in view, one of which is a balloon ascension, and others, the nature of which they refuse to reveal until the contracts are signed. Chairman Simpson met the Miner Hicks in Chicago yesterday and Hicks thought he would be a good drawing card to tell audiences how he escaped death in the California mine disaster, but Mr. Simpson thought differently. Mr. Hicks will not be one of the attractions, but a wonderful Hawaiian band of dancers and musicians may be. This latter is not decided upon yet but may be a feature of the Fourth. Headquarters for the Nonesuch Bros. circus parade committee will be open this coming week in the west end building next the New Gas Light office on North Main street and the banners, floats, decorations and all the trappings for the Fourth will be placed here ready for use. Colonel Nonesuch Watt will be in charge and will meet with the exhibitors and those who contemplate taking part in the parade will be carefully guarded by the Nonesuch Police, a full squad of which are already drilling difficult maneuvers so as to be able to pass all bar rooms safely without falling by the wayside. The wild west contingent is being rapidly recruited, the army section is drilling every night but still want more recruits. The rest of the actors are ready for their part in the big afternoon parade while the morning industrial parade will be one not soon to be forgotten. The automobile parade in the evening promises to be both unique and wonderful to behold. Chairman Edden says that it has created unusual interest and that the thirty dollar prize offered by the Eagles for the best exhibit has added to the contest. In fact, the three prizes offered by the Eagles are such that they will mean much more than money value to those receiving them. With five bands, three parades, something doing every minute promises to be more than a catchword.

Miss Marion L. Chittenden and Dr. Frederick C. Lindstrom were quietly wedded in the presence of a few relatives and friends at three o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John McKinney, rector of Christ Episcopal church, at the home of the bride's father, Dr. G. G. Chittenden, 111 North Academy street. The bride graduated this June from Waterman Hall at Sycamore, Ill., and is one of Janesville's popular and accomplished young women, and the groom is one of the most successful of the younger professional men of this city. Dr. and Mrs. Lindstrom will journey to New York state on their honeymoon, with the expectation of spending at least a month in the east. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping in one of the Snyder flats on North High street.

Central hall, elaborately decorated with mirrors, large fac-similes of the class-pin, chrysanthemums, and bunting, was the scene of the farewell dance of the Janesville High school graduates last evening. Ninety couples, including a number of visitors from Chicago, Madison, Beloit, and Rockford, were in attendance and Gray & Carter's four piece orchestra discoursed a program of musical numbers which kept the majority on the floor, despite the sultry night. The committee of arrangements was composed of William Poonichen, Thomas Cassidy, and Kenneth Jeffris, while Walter Ains, William Lundgren, Percy McKenney, William Tierman, and Wallace Mills were responsible for the tasteful decorations.

Mrs. Herbert Ford who is visiting in the east will leave Philadelphia for home the first of the coming week. Miss Janet Ford will visit in New York before returning.

Harvested From Clear Spring Water A PURE ICE FOR THE HOME

Do you know that you can be supplied with Crystal Lake Ice as cheaply as with any other product? Do you know that the satisfaction of having Lake Ice is worth one-half more.

HOW TO BUY ICE

First purchase a Coupon Book and receive a card with which to call the ice man. When you wish ice, place the card where it can be seen from the street; the wagon men will do the rest.

OUR COUPON SYSTEM

Our Coupon System requires less than one-half minute of your time each day to examine your refrigerator and determine your wants.

KEEP THE ICE COMPARTMENT CLOSED

When the Ice has been received, keep the ice compartment closed. Constantly opening admits the air and melts the ice. It is a good plan to cover the ice with cloth or paper. You will be surprised to see what a little attention will do—it will save you dollars.

ICE FIELD AT CRYSTAL LAKE

Over 100,000 Tons At Crystal Lake

At Crystal Lake, Ills., there are located some of the largest ice houses in the Northwest. The harvest of 1907 exceeded ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND TONS.

Today brings the close of the first twelve days' balloting for The Daily Gazette's diamond trophies and vacation trips, and if these first days are any criterion of the weeks that are to follow, it is not difficult to see that there is going to be some lively campaigning before the polls are finally closed. Every day of the race brings new and interesting developments now, committees are being talked of by one or two organizations interested to secure votes for their candidates, and combinations are being formed among the candidates and their friends who have the trips to the "Soo" and Charlevoix in view.

Two heads are better than one and two people can get more votes than one, so it might be well to interest your wife or husband, or some friend in the contest and go after the big prizes together. This is being done by some candidates and is easily the most interesting development of the last day or two and it is now quite clear that much will depend upon the make-up of these campaign committees and a merry scramble for voting certificates is sure to be the result. Get them and put them away for the last day.
